FOREWORD

Today people are constantly on the move, as a result of the changing times and increasing demands that exist in the world in which we live; hence, the ever-pressing need to keep up with new ideas that emanate from automation, industrialization, mass media, communication and transportation. To keep up with these demands requires an unflinching immediacy to act upon them, do something about them and to have something to show for it.

Too often in the process people are overcome by the sweeping pressures of the fast-moving world. In order not to be as particles of dust sucked into a vacuum "we must pursue ruthless personal standards of excellence," as one of our English teachers so aptly phrased it. It is not only necessary to come to grips with ourselves, but in so doing to also cast aside some of the strict social patterns and codes that once ruled a world, less susceptible to change and re-organization.

Within today's educational patterns (at North Shore High School) teenagers are allowed to formulate their own opinions and personalities at their own pace; thus, tradition is often left to the wind and we tend to lean toward informality.

It is only natural, therefore, for us to select as our style, an informal layout, and, for the theme of Taliesin 1964, to best reflect a world in which we are unsparingly integrated—"Time and Motion."

“... WITH WINGS LIKE EAGLES”

A victim of the dissident extremism he strove so hard to remove from America, John Fitzgerald Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Texas, Nov. 22, 1963. Already the four dark days between the assassination and the burial in Arlington have begun to fade into memory as the exigencies, real or otherwise, of everyday life take precedence in our thoughts. As long as the memory of those days is kept alive, the danger of ignoring their import is lessened.

The afternoon of Nov. 22 is a difficult one to forget: nervous rumors, sad affirmations, wild speculations, and finally Dr. French's announcement over the public address system that the President was dead. Confirmation of Kennedy's death was met with silence and shock—what can be said about the assassination of the President: Students realized the futility of speech, and said nothing.

But the memory of John F. Kennedy is not silent; it is something almost tangible; it seems to speak. The Peace Corps exists as a memorial to his vision and his faith in man's ability to help his fellow man. The nuclear test ban treaty that he worked so diligently to achieve is a tribute to his belief in a better world, a world removed from fear and destruction. There is necessarily much unfinished business left in Congress and the White House; but John Fitzgerald Kennedy's torch has been passed and its new bearer is faced with the task of perpetuation. The statement Kennedy made famous in his Inaugural address is still applicable: "Let the word go forth . . . to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans."

John Fitzgerald Kennedy strove to build a better world; Dallas taught us that we have not yet attained it. But perhaps, in time, we will be able to realize the world he envisioned, characterized by the words of Isaiah: "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings like eagles; they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint."

"Let the word go forth . . . to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans."

INTRODUCTION

Two words characterize North Shore High School: time and motion. There never seems to be enough time for all the motion, and North Shore students are faced with the problem of students everywhere—too much to do, and not enough time in which to do it.

Motion began as soon as school started in September. Tryouts and rehearsals for "Capers of '63" were held, sports practice began, the annual senior magazine sale was held, and the newest innovation, a marching band, started practicing two days per week after school. As September merged into October, "Capers" was presented, the first home football game and appearance of the marching band occurred, and the soccer team started winning games.

Later that month, yearbook sales began, the Sophomore class presented "Our Town," the Student Council sponsored the first dance of the year, "Harvest Moon," and the Taliesin held a money-raising dance, "A Little Bit Out." The seniors came to the fore as casting and rehearsals for the senior play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," began. The juniors stepped into the spotlight with the ring dinner and ordering of class rings. At the same time, starving North Shore students welcomed the opening of the Honor Society snack bar.

All this motion came crashing to a halt on November 22. The days immediately following President Kennedy's assassination had a definite effect on North Shore, and the "In Memoriam" pages are a record of its thoughts and reactions. Although students and teachers were deeply affected by the assassination, a sense of the importance of life, particularly when confronted with senseless death, caused a return to action.

In December, life at North Shore began to return to normal as plans were made for the Junior Prom, "Christmas Cotillion." The various music organizations presented a holiday concert, the long-awaited vacation arrived, and school recessed for the holidays.

The new year brought more activity than ever. The basketball team picked up the habit of winning games, the initial stages of the production of the musical, "Redhead," got underway, and the Ski Club, under the direction of Mr. Passer, journeyed to Shaker Village. Mid-term exams, the bane of students' lives, were administered, and seeking relief, 80 Schussboomers spent a weekend skiing at Fitzwilliam Lodge in New Hampshire.

While skiers were busy traveling about, the Sophomores were transported to the middle ages at their dance, "Misty Wonderland." In the realm of music, the Varsity Chorus, DoMiSols, and Hoarse Norsemen recorded for radio station WHLI. Patrice Simonnet, American Field Service exchange student from France, came to North Shore in February. Vacation came once more, and for most students it was a welcome chance to catch up on lost sleep. But for the 150 people involved in the production of "Redhead," it only meant more and longer rehearsals. For 19 Seniors, it meant the announcement of New York Regents Scholarships for the fall of 1964-65. Finally, after five weeks of intense work, "Redhead" was ready to be presented and was a smash!

The Juniors received their rings; baseball and track teams began practice and competition; the annual Spring Concert was given; and Spring Recess finally arrived. The band, orchestra, and chorus performed at All-State, the Viking View changed hands as next year's staff began to prepare the final issue. The yearbook editors met their deadline for the annual Taliesin '64. Moving-Up Day was held and the year is now drawing to a close. There is little time left, but, as usual, there is still much to do: final exams, the Senior Prom, and, at last, graduation.

Taliesin '64 is a record, in time and motion, of North Shore High School, its students, teachers, and staff.

Miss Ann Fullerton

... DEMANDS NOTHING SHORT OF EXCELLENCE

For demanding nothing short of excellence, she has won our respect; for her dedication to teaching, our admiration; for her concern with her students as individuals, our gratitude; and for her ceaseless efforts to fill us with wonder, knowledge, and appreciation of life, our dedication of this yearbook. With these things in mind, we dedicate the Taliesin 1964 to a truly remarkable woman, Miss Ann Fullerton.

DEDICATION

A GOOD BIOLOGIST IS A GOOD OBSERVER

Coming to North Shore High School five years ago after teaching in Chevy Chase, Maryland, Miss Fullerton quickly became known for her demanding classes, high standards of excellence and long hours. Almost daily she can be found after school in S-11, setting up experiments, helping students or conducting "bonus labs."

Miss Fullerton has a Bachelor of Science Degree from Western Maryland University and a Master of Science Degree in biology from Syracuse University. She has taken summer courses at Duke University, Syracuse University, the University of Delaware and University of Maine.

She was one of the people responsible for the institution of the BSCS biology program, and she and Mr. Robert Koch spent part of a summer at Boulder, Colorado, becoming familiar with the course content of BSCS and the various methods of teaching it. This year, as in the last three years, Miss Fullerton has helped write the special biology Regents Exam given to BSCS students. In addition to teaching BSCS classes, Miss Fullerton teaches a general biology class and an advanced biology course.

... TO THOSE WHO DEAL IN MODERN CONCEPTS OF EDUCATION TODAY

Wrapped up in "Time and Motion," we become so involved in our own world, the problems and pleasures of student life, that we tend to overlook the fact that there are realms much greater and more intricate than ours.

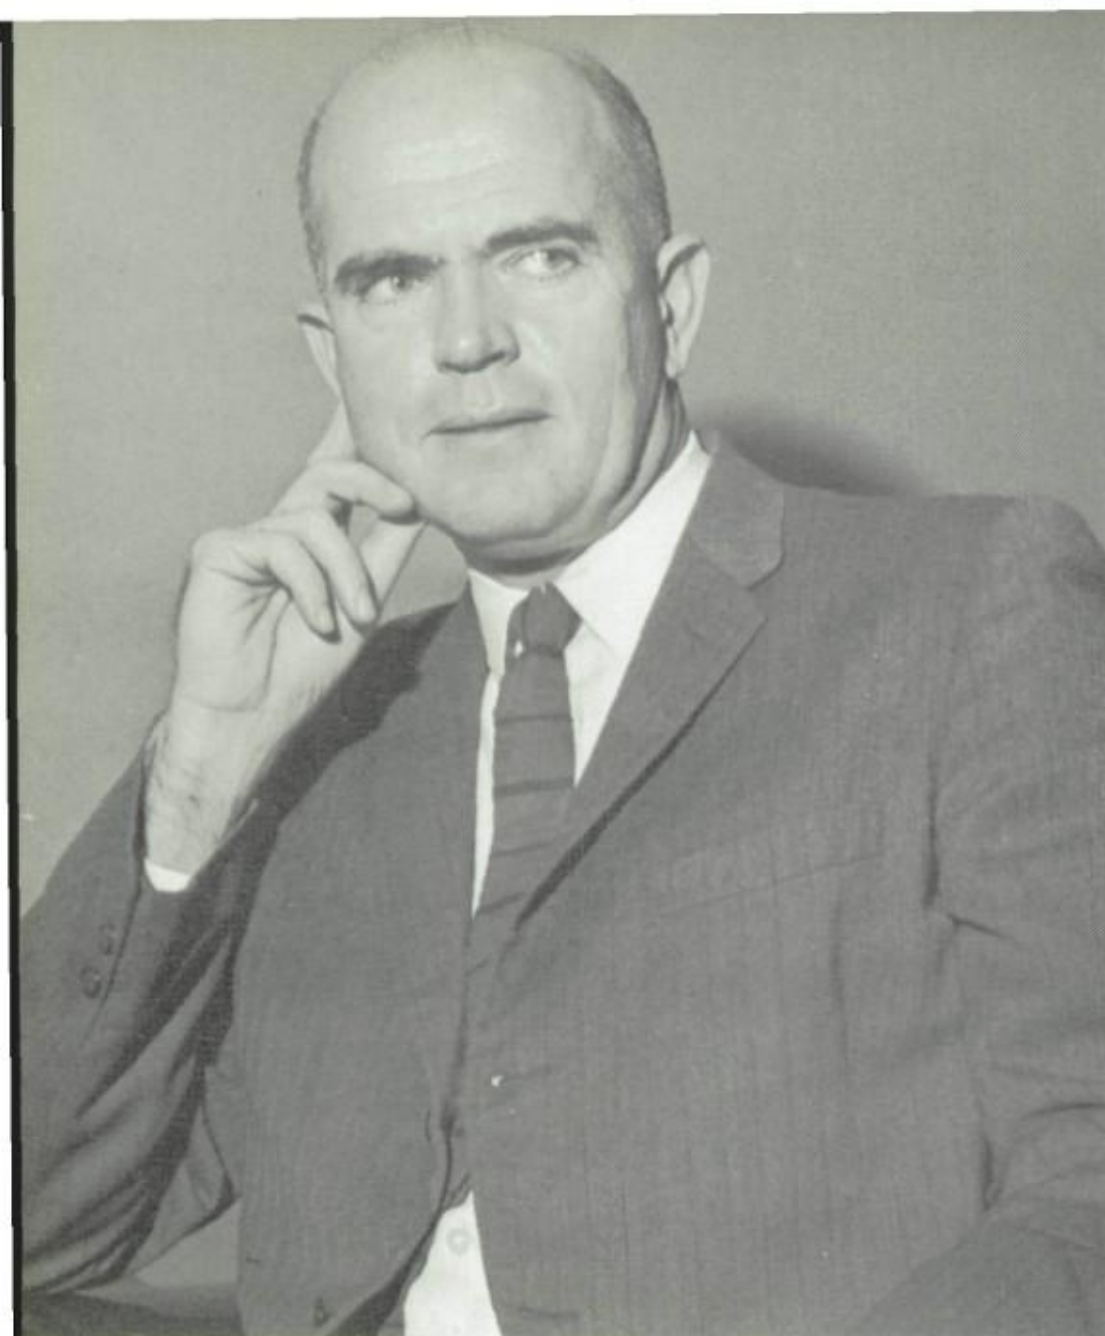

And, if we were to take the time, we would see there is much still to be learned about ourselves as students, merely through others responsible for the quality of education we are receiving today—the administrators.

But with the tremendous distance between that of a student and administrator, all we can know about them is by chancing to come across them in "Time and Motion" momentarily; but then, as with any time schedule, they must meet its demands by dealing with the pressures the modern world places upon education today.

TEACHERS DEDICATED TO TEACHING ... AND LIFE

A teacher—a "catalyst," a source of inspiration, a commanding figure reading poetry, an analytical mind expressing itself in mathematical formulas, a scientist in the lab, a musician performing with ease. A teacher is someone to "point out the way" rather than give a ready answer; a teacher is someone who imparts knowledge, and, hopefully, wisdom; a teacher is a person.

From the age of five until he reaches eighteen, teachers figure prominently in a student's life. They are remembered for many reasons: strict discipline, an easy smile, a sense of humor, seriousness of purpose, a natural rapport.

Yet what is it that makes certain teachers outstanding? It is his knowledge of the capabilities of each of his students and the realization that it is his job to help fulfill these talents. It is the concern he has for his work and for his students. It is his dedication to teaching and to life.

"Falstaff was about this big ..."

"King Edward was even bigger ..."

"Santa who?"

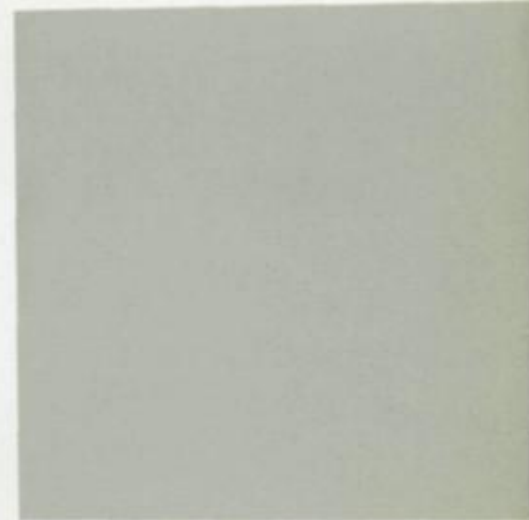

In order to increase his contact with students, Principal, Dr. French has this year assumed additional duties of a home-room teacher.

"mmm . . . peppermint flavored frames . . ."

"Why are elephants gray?"

"How come you never have that much energy for home-work?"

"MAN CANNOT LIVE BY BREAD ALONE"

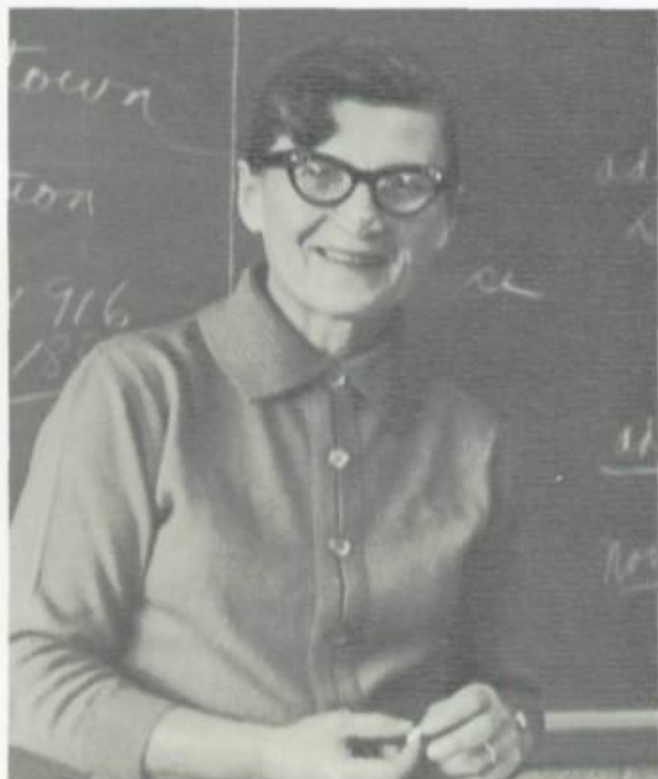

"Man cannot live by bread alone" although his bodily appetite is most easily and often fulfilled. There is an intellectual appetite that cannot be satisfied as easily nor quite as often. But to build such an appetite, one must first taste the fruits of its heritage. English provides us with this opportunity through literature. The classic themes of literature, rooted in mythology, folklore and the Bible (as literature) probe into man's existence. Not by giving answers but by raising questions, an awareness is created, the key to understanding; thus, with the two, awareness and understanding, the intellectual appetite.

SOCIAL STUDIES—DEEPER THAN FACTS AND DATES

The trend today in social studies (cit. ed.) is to re-discover man in the western world through exposure to anthropology and sociology, the "newer" social science of concepts, ideas and theories: to understand facts in depth, is to understand them in a larger relation than just facts and dates as with the "older" social science, history, which instead of anthropology and sociology, dealt mainly with economics and geography. In effect, more emphasis is placed on recent (twentieth century) history and man in relation to modern day problems.

MATH DEVELOPS ABILITY TO "THINK MATH" . . .

Math provides an appreciation and association with today's world, an ever-changing world with science as its background in such fields as space travel and architecture: the math curriculum purposes to stress techniques with calculations and develop an ability to "think math" according to the problems given to the students. Math is studied on many different levels: general math, which deals with basic principles of math; algebra, which deals with solving basic problems containing an unknown factor; geometry and trigonometry, which deal with the solving of problems of dimensions, and math 12X, which contains advanced theories of math—logic, functions and groups.

SCIENCE UNMOLDS EXPECTED WITH THE UNEXPECTED . . .

It is science that provokes progress rooted in projections of the past and present: it is science that unmolds the expected with the unexpected i.e. a precipitous future. Science is man, who cannot even promise tomorrow, yet, who holds tomorrow's answers: it is tomorrow that many of his efforts today are realized, and yet, more often unrealized. Man can only build upon that which he ambitions today; and speculate, experiment with life and continue to discover its hidden meanings. It is the future that holds science, and yet, it is science that will either enlighten or darken the future.

LANGUAGES BUILD UNDERSTANDING . . .

To learn a foreign language involves a great deal more than merely developing the ability to communicate or manipulate words in a foreign tongue: it is through this communication that one gains knowledge of a culture other than his own, through such foreign resources as literature, the fine arts, music and most important, the people; how they live; how they think; how they believe. Language study should never be thought of in terms of merely learning words, for many a man is ready to admit that words in our own English language often fall short of expressing ideas, feelings, etc. Languages are more than anything else, the sole communicative tool by which understandings are reached between two (or among more) foreign subjects: this is of far greater importance in a world today that seems to grow smaller and smaller as man goes farther and farther out in space.

AN ARTIST FEELS AND THINKS ART . . .

Since there is beauty in art, cannot there also be ugliness? Can there be both? Can we really know one without also having known the other? How do we know or feel? This is what art asks, that we express visually our thoughts and feelings, that we not just copy from nature: hence, the artist is not only he who is able to draw accurately what he sees, but he is an artist who also draws accurately what he feels and thinks about what he sees.

HOMEMAKING IS HOME LIVING

Cooperation between the home, school and community is as desirable as it is workable: nowhere are its signs more apparent than in education. Home Economics is no different: it is an important and integral part of the school picture in that it, too, is set up to create an atmosphere for understanding and learning, by correlating needs, interests and abilities of every student with a home-like atmosphere. Various means of instructions—texts, visual aids and special laboratory sessions—are introduced to contribute toward a more satisfying view of Home and Family Living.

LET'S DO BUSINESS THE BUSINESS WAY

The way to do business is to do it the way businesses do: the Business Department has an office service group, not a club, which offers clerical services to all of the school and school-related activities. Not only have business students met numerous requests, but they have organized themselves into work groups, set up work teams and devised a work schedule in addition to fulfilling their classwork obligations. This arrangement gives students a chance to get the "feel" of office work and makes them aware of its "salability."

MUSIC—SCHOOL WITHIN A SCHOOL

Complex musical arrangements directed with the confident ease and simplicity of competent music teachers are those presented throughout the year, whether it be in song or instrumental music—160-member chorus, band, orchestra or the DoMiSols or Hoarse Norsemen. The untiring music teachers by placing music on a high plane, have built one of the finest reputations for their students in the County. This year marks a first for the newly formed marching band (under the leadership of Mr. Lentczner) that appeared among other high school marching bands at Hofstra University last fall and won awards. The Music Department has become a school within a school for which the former and the latter, North Shore High School, can be proud.

PHYSICAL FITNESS FITS INTO PROGRAM

The physical education program is not to be mistaken for "fun and games," but understood as the late-President John Fitzgerald Kennedy's Physical Fitness Plan, to build bodily coordination through rigorous, regular workouts and exercises. Within the department, interscholastic sports include football, basketball, baseball, wrestling, track, cross country, hockey, the latter and only sport that is also played by the Girls' Athletic Association, which also participates in modern dance, volleyball, among others.

READING TRENDS CORRELATE WITH MODERN DAY ISSUES . . .

Trends in reading noticeably correlate with the modern-day issues as more books on racial problems, sociology, mysteries, government are signed out than any others: such include Theodore H. White's "Making of a President," J. D. Salinger's "The Last of the Just," Bruce Catton's "The Coming Fury." And on Nov. 22 of this year, the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy has already begun to bring volumes to libraries all over the nation—journalistic accounts, philosophers /politicians', poets' lamentations, writings on the courage of a widow and two children, and other works on that tragic day in history when a nation wept.

DRIVERS EDUCATION EMPHASIZES SAFETY

It is not enough that we pass a test to drive, but a series of test drives to build self-confidence on the road. In Drivers' Education classes, students meet daily (usually four at a time) with the Drivers' Education instructor, who teaches them the basic driving skills and to be aware of traffic laws and signs.

SENIORS TO START ANOTHER PATTERN STARTED HERE . . .

The Class of '64 is the first class in North Shore High School's history to have entered a complete school and to have taken full advantages of its facilities.

We hope that our class has left to North Shore a small fraction of what we believe we have gotten from it.

The Class has been individualistic in that Seniors have acted as a whole with a minimum of cliques and "superior" groups. We have continued at North Shore a tradition of excellence—five Merit Semi-Finalists, 16 receivers of Letters of Commendation, many Regent Scholarship winners and many future successes in college and the business world. But we shall not rest on our laurels.

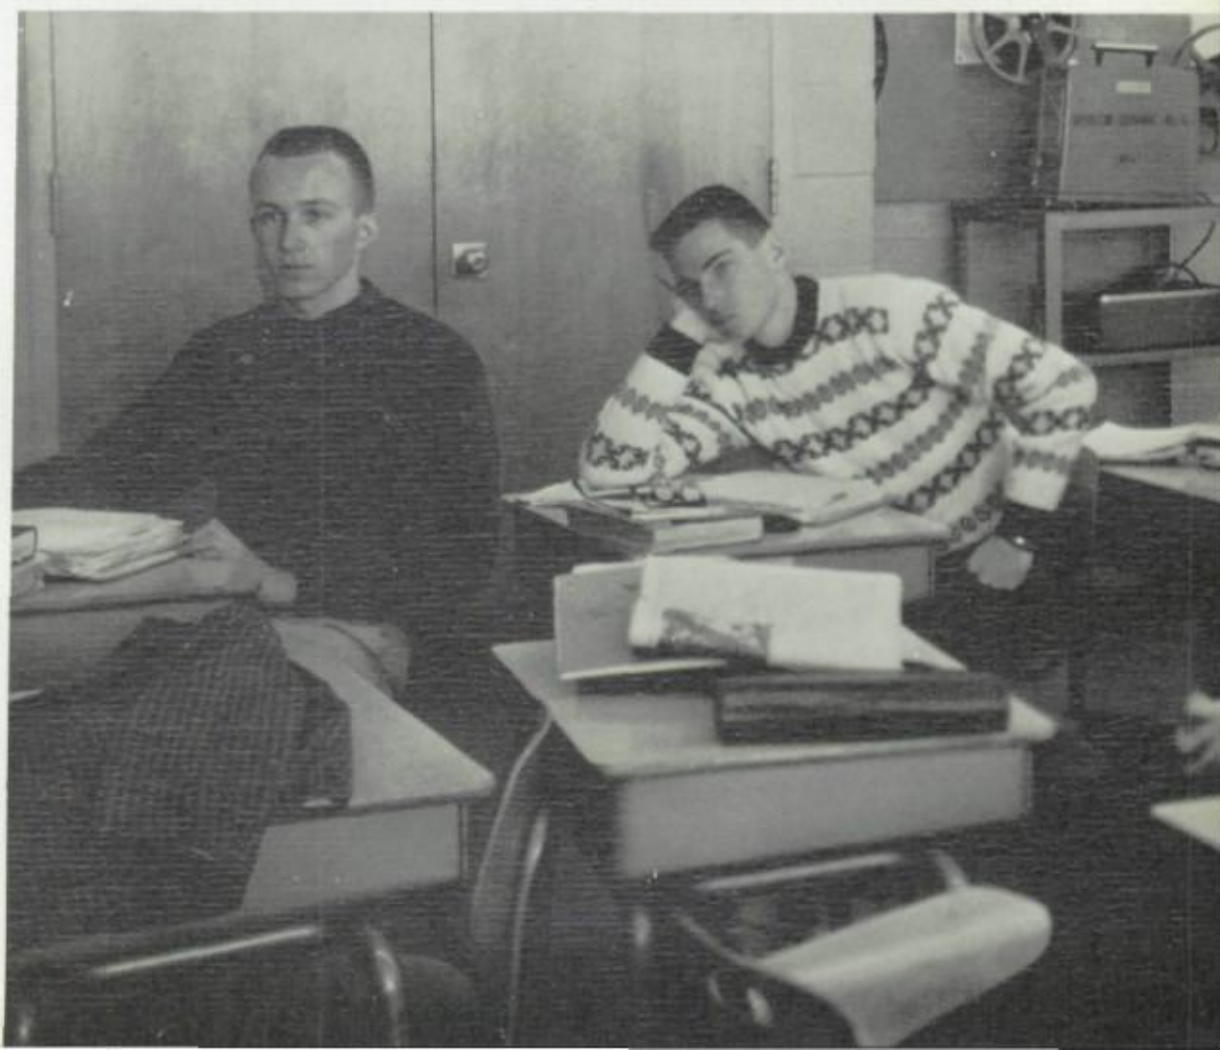

We now strive to begin in an equally successful future. Saccharine, but true, are the lines: "Soon to start another pattern in the pattern started there."

Although North Shore will seem easily forgotten in the new world we are soon to enter, the teachings will not be forgotten. We have learned the all-important precepts of democracy, responsibility and individualism. We have learned to cooperate with our fellow men. We have learned to receive the many principles and thoughts communicated to us by our teachers. We have tried to appreciate their countless hours, time spent in producing more than just an "average" individual but one who can, as a result of the influences of their teachings, contribute something original to our society. We hope that we shall be these individuals.

"... DEDICATED TO THE GREAT TASK BEFORE US"

Lincoln "Gettysburg Address"

We, the class of '64, will not long be remembered since such things are easily forgotten. But we shall not forget what we have learned, valuable lessons that must be recalled in the future with more than mere nostalgia, for they are worth more than even the accord which we shall give them.

With these final days of school, another Senior Class prepares to leave; heretofore united on common grounds, now destined to disseminate in many different walks of life.

Something intangible is happening to us. Something is ending and something is beginning. We know not where these new roads will lead, but we are "... dedicated to the great task . . . before us." What we have received from the willing educators of our school will help us to face the problems of the modern world and deal with them intelligently.

Their teachings are valuable and will serve us well in the precipitous future.

THERE'S NO BUSINESS LIKE SENIOR BUSINESS

There's no business like Senior business, and no one who knows better than Senior class officers—Mike DiMartino, President; Bob Buckhout, Vice President; Judy Birer, Treasurer, and Jo-An Goss, Secretary.

In their last year Seniors are flooded with activities and appointments: utmost on many of their minds are the preparations for plans after graduation whether they be vocational or educational. In addition, the heavy schedule includes social functions, the primary one for most—Senior Prom; academic functions, college interviews, trips to colleges, entrance and State Regents Examinations, and most important, graduation ceremonies.

As coordinators of Senior business, officers were instrumental in keeping the heavy program uncomplicated and smooth, but were also sensitive to problems that they as representatives for the Senior Class helped to overcome.

SENIORS BREAK RECORD IN MAGAZINE DRIVE . . .

Seniors collected a record-breaking total of $13,000 last autumn during their annual Magazine Drive. Part of the expenses for the Drive pay for the annual Senior trip to Washington, D.C.

Some residents in the community ordered as many as three and four magazines each from Senior solicitors; many teachers and even more students at least ordered one of their favorite magazines.

School treasurer, Mrs. Barbara Muttee, was the money manager and efficient, good-natured keeper of record receipts.

Susan Eckel is too old for dolls but never too old to win a reward for magazine sales.

LIFE AS AFS STUDENT—MANY FACETED

For eleven weeks, David Ain, senior, North Shore's American Field Service student, observed and experienced many facets of Japanese life and culture. He lived in Nagoya, Japan's third largest and most modern city.

Four of the weeks he attended a Japanese High school during which time he made occasional visits to a Japanese University with his 20 year old brother, Kenji. (He also had another brother, 23 years old, and a sister, 16.)

David also traveled to the Central Alps for mountain climbing excursions as well as other parts, Hiroshima, Tokyo, Kyoto.

Since he has been back, David has been asked to speak to various clubs and organizations, among them the North Shore School Board of Education. During his talk he gave an example of how little the Japanese really understand the United States.

They asked me, he said "If yours is supposed to be a Christian country, then why do you have juvenile delinquency."

David admitted it was hard enough to explain it in Japanese, much less English.

After 11 weeks in Japan last summer, David Ain has many fascinating stories to tell.

Left: In authentic Japanese garb, in a typical Japanese setting, David tries the not-so-typical Japanese food, to David, that is.

David made many mountain climbing trips with his host family, Kenji, 20; his father, Isamu Fukunishi, his mother.

Craig Anderson, standing, addressed the North Shore Schools Board of Education last fall on his experiences as an International Fellowship exchange student this past summer. Others, clockwise, are Dr. John E. French, Principal;

Eduardo Silva, exchange student from South America; James Barash, who also went to South America last summer; David Ain, AFS student, and Robert Coleman, North Shore's third IF student this year.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS GO TO SOUTH AMERICA

Last summer, '63, for the first time, North Shore High School participated in the International Fellowship Exchange Program, which originated in Buffalo, N.Y. in 1954 and has grown steadily ever since. Today the program is widespread in all sections of Latin America and the United States.

North Shore sent three students to South America. They are Craig Anderson, James Barash and Bob Coleman, all of whom are seniors.

About the same time North Shore's students returned from South America, an International Exchange student arrived in our School District, Eduardo Silva from South America, to study the full year at North Shore.

SENIOR PLAY

HOUSE GUEST TURNS HOUSEHOLD INTO COMEDY OF CHAOS . . .

The Man Who Came to Dinner, this year's Senior play, involved trans-Atlantic phone calls, 10,000 cockroaches, penguins, and a hot-rod wheelchair as well as many of the class' future actors and actresses. A wailing nurse and an ex-convict were just part of the illustrious cast involved in a hectic December in the life of the Stanley family.

From tryouts in October until Thanksgiving weekend, the 25-member cast was constantly in preparation for one of the chief means used by the Senior Class to raise money for the Washington Trip. The performance was held on Nov. 28 and 29.

The play centers around the famed critic, Sheridan Whiteside, during his convalescence in the Ohio home. The town and its occupants immediately become the staff of Mr. Whiteside's "Central Headquarters!" Into the house are "welcomed" a smalltown newspaper editor, a small-time actress, a prankster extraordinaire, a country doctor, a playboy, and myriad of other oddities of the human race. The impatient father, "typical" mother, dissatisfied children, harrassed nurse and enraptured servants are completely swept up in the activities of their "temporary?" house guest. The adventures of all these hilarious characters were sterlingly presented by the Helen Hayeses and Douglas Fairbanks of the Class of 1964.

David French in the role of Bert Jefferson, inebriated newspaper reporter, brags of his conquests.

TIME AND MOTION SHAPES CLASS CHARACTER . . .

Because Seniors seem to set the pace in the high school, underclassmen are usually thought in terms of following in their footsteps. This is not always the case. By the mere fact that each class is composed of entirely different individuals indicates that each class must also have its pace-setters. They are usually the aggressive individuals who initiate ideas that generally appeal to the majority of students, who in turn adopt them with reasonable ease; thus, a mutual understanding of class goals is formed in time and motion, shaping what is, figuratively speaking, class character, which is recorded on the following pages.

UNDERCLASSMEN

JUNIORS . . . SEE IMPORTANCE OF TIME AND HOW FAST IT PASSES

The theme of the '64 Taliesin, that of time and motion, is especially meaningful for the members of the Junior class. This year, more than ever before, we began to see the importance of time in our lives and how fast it passes.

Budgeting our time became necessary as we found ourselves confronted with more advanced and interesting courses which required much effort. We struggled with American literature and American history, which demanded understanding rather than memorization; mathematics and science of greater depth; and, in many cases, the third year of a foreign language. Furthermore, we were faced with our first big term paper, which was intended to prepare us for future research papers. Realizing that our high school education was soon to come to an end, we started planning for the future. To help make our college plans, we conferred with our guidance counselors and with college representatives, visited colleges, and took the PSAT, Merit Scholarship, and College Board examinations. Other students began to make plans for their careers in the business world. Therefore, even though few definite decisions were made, we got a better idea of where our future lives would lead us.

However, despite all the work and planning, there were pleasant things to be remembered. In the fall, at the annual Ring Dinner, we ordered our school rings which arrived early in March. Full of school spirit, as well as class spirit, we attended games, dances, and other activities. Perhaps the most important was the Junior Prom, "Christmas Cotillion," which was held on December 14.

Thus, although the year was confusing and nerve-racking, we managed to complete it with many pleasant memories.

Juniors play "Ring around the Rosy."

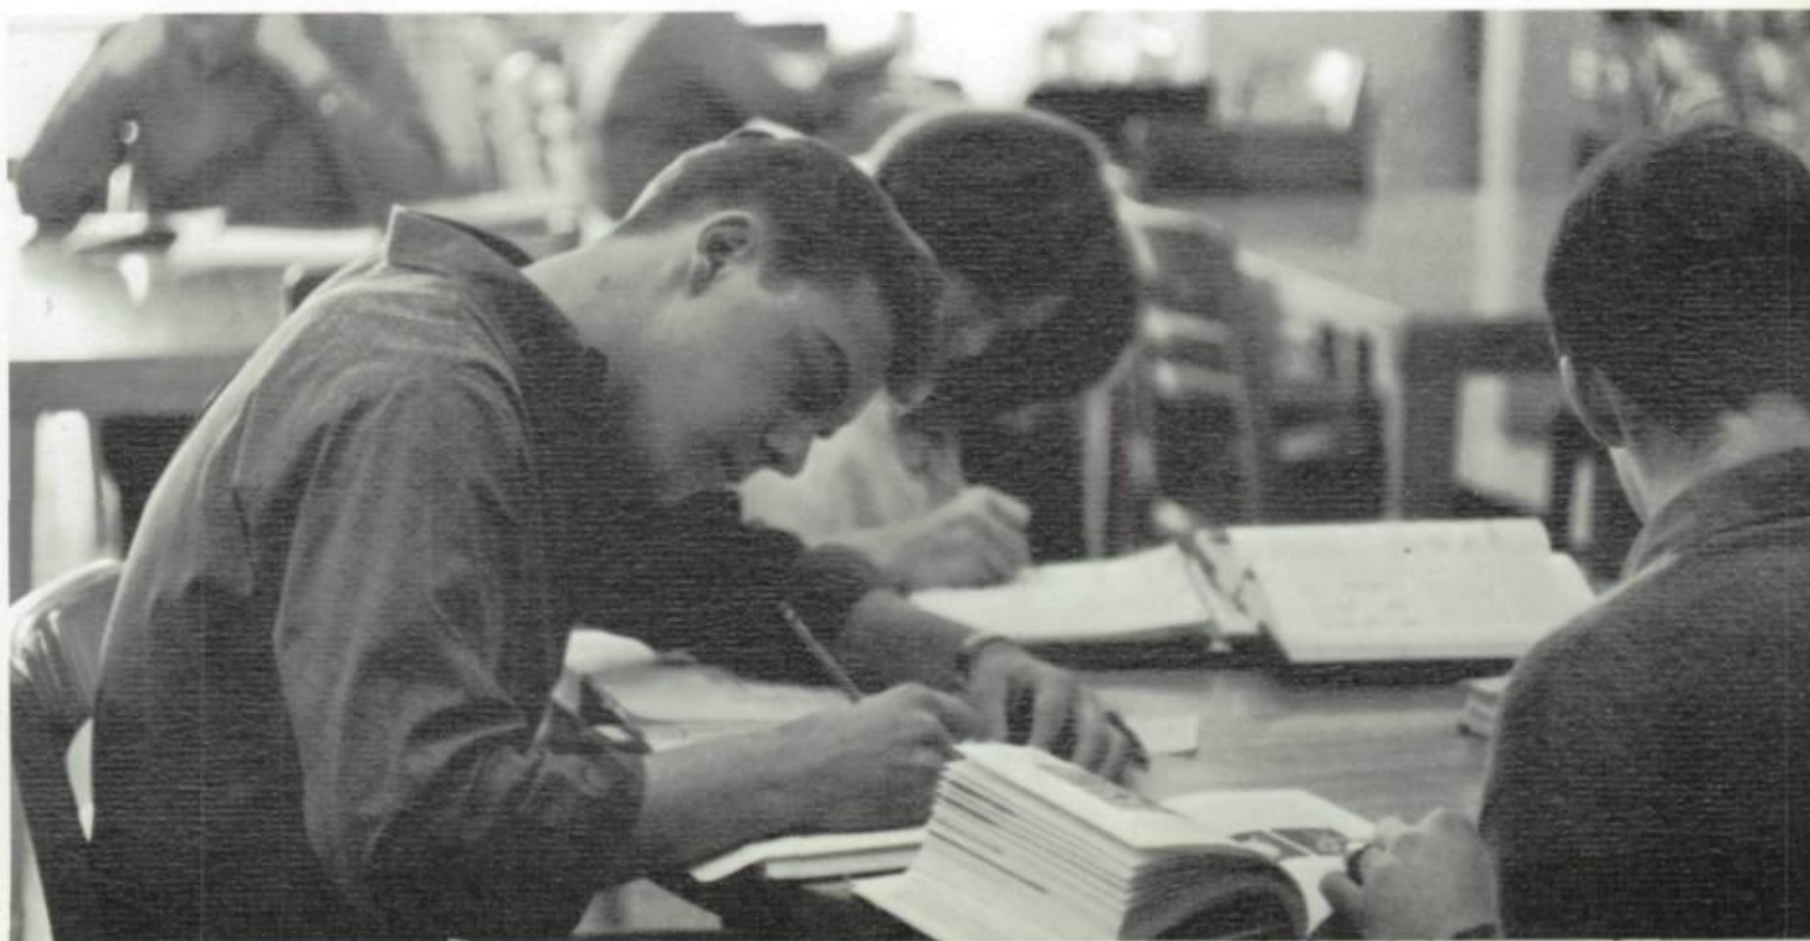

"What nature doesn't do to us, will be done by our fellow men."

"Five grams will be enough for a starter"—our future scientists?

Timmy caught in an unusual mood.

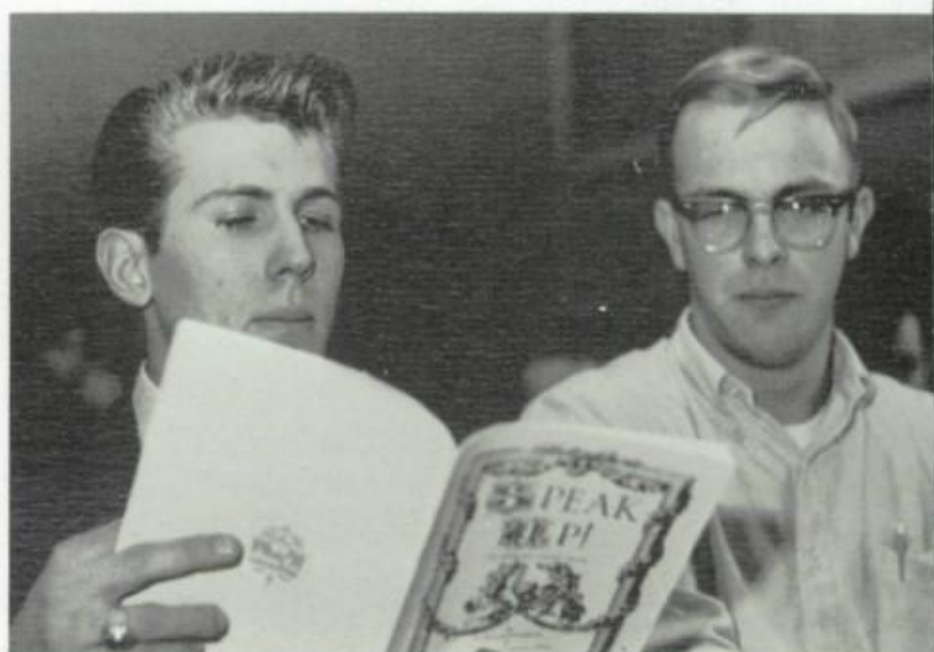

"Somehow I think he's trying to tell us something . . ."

Juniors rally to the cry of: "FOOD!"

"She loves you—YEAH, YEAH, YEAH!"

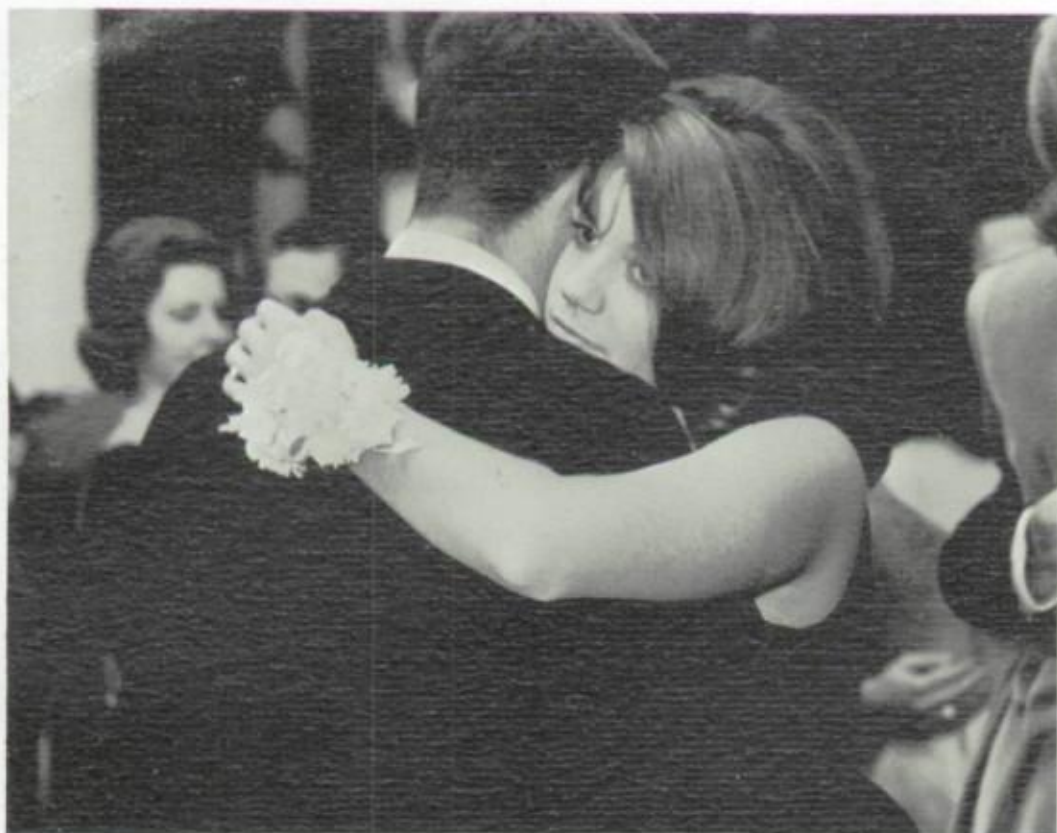

"That's why I'm a mess!"

"CHRISTMAS COTILLION"

"... the right finger of 'me' lone left hand."

Linda Konazewski is hypnotized by the music of the Devrons.

"Why do elephants climb trees?"

SOPHOMORE YEAR TOUGHEST SO FAR

This has been the "toughest" year so far at North Shore with B.S.C.S., world literature, world history and geometry. No one could say that we haven't lived up to our title of the "busy sophomores." We realize that it all would have been impossible without the assistance of Mrs. Zipperian, our class sponsor, Mr. Haulenbeck, who directed our class play and the numerous others who worked so hard to make our sophomore year, including our class dance, one to remember.

I hope you have as much fun in your soph year as I did, but you really have to work hard to get through.
I tell you 'cause I know!
Have fun this summer and be good

Eddie

Eddie again

"Again, I repeat . . . who has ticket number 54."

SOPHOMORES

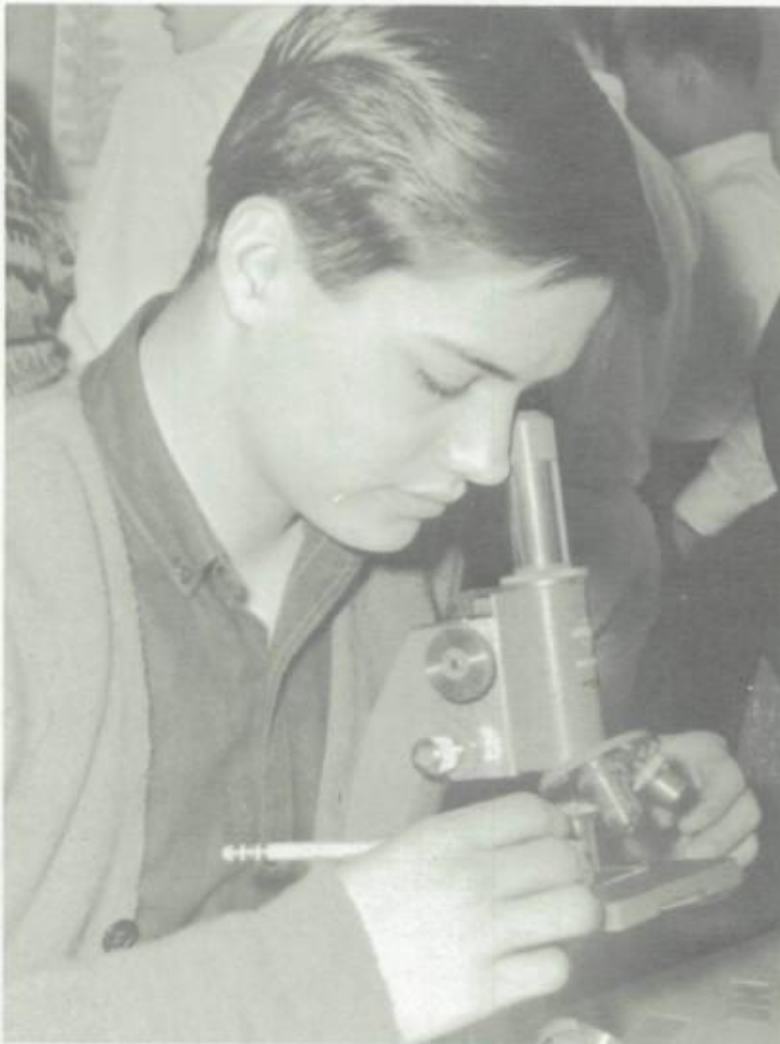

"I can dance better than that."

Walt,
 Hi - remember those thrilling
 Times "out back"! Be good and don't fail French next year!
 Good luck
 Mary

SOPHOMORES PERFORM IN WILDER'S "OUR TOWN"

The Class of '66 performed Thornton Wilder's renowned play, "Our Town," on Oct. 25, 1963, under the competent direction of Mr. Allen Haulenbeek, who had a part in the play, it has been told, when he was in high school.

All of the Sophomore cast played their difficult roles with convincing emotion and remarkable skill, especially noteworthy among actors with so little theatrical experience.

"Our Town," a play in three acts, depicts the daily life of people living in a small New England town. Peter Tenhaagen played the backward adolescent, Christie Thompson, the unpretentious girlfriend; Peter Shirk, Susan Halpert and Richard Smith and Debbie Levine, parents.

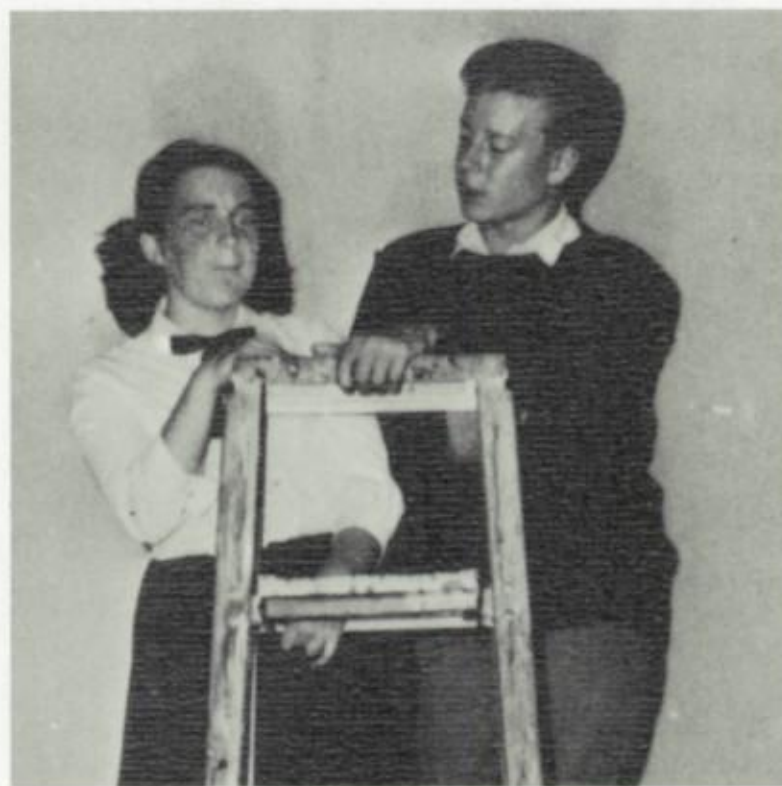

"The moon's shining so brightly tonight—isn't it George?"

Left: Mother and Father Gibbs, as they walk in the wedding procession, are sad for they are losing their "little" boy.

"Now, do it again ladies. Music should come into the world to give pleasure—not earaches."

"George—are you talking to Emile again?" cries younger sis. "Will you get out of here. Can't you see I'm busy talking to Emile!"

"Passes!" "Detention!" "More work!" "Lower grades!" "It's all so different!"

To say the least, all Freshmen this year, and most likely all past Freshmen have undergone the same atmospheric change; emotionally, socially and academically.

Most Freshmen survived a trying, difficult experience—the transition from junior high school to the senior high. In fact, all 260 of the Freshmen, taken collectively, were quite well-rounded and high-spirited.

As school got underway, the busy, bustle of daily school life gradually tapered off; but homework, tests and schoolwork in general were more difficult than ever.

In spite of this, they eventually grew to feel that this busy schedule they encountered every day was a part of them; that they had become a part of North Shore High School.

"It's not that it is much harder, but that much higher."

EXTRA-CURRICULAR PROGRAM ENRICHES STUDENTS' LIVES

So that students' chances for learning and self-expression may be extended, it has become increasingly important for schools to offer their pupils more than the usual academic education through extra-curricular activities.

A formal academic education presents factual information but quite often is more concerned with whether or not a student absorbs it, moreso, than whether or not he applies it. If one does not apply what he has learned, then too often the material is left dormant and frequently, forgotten.

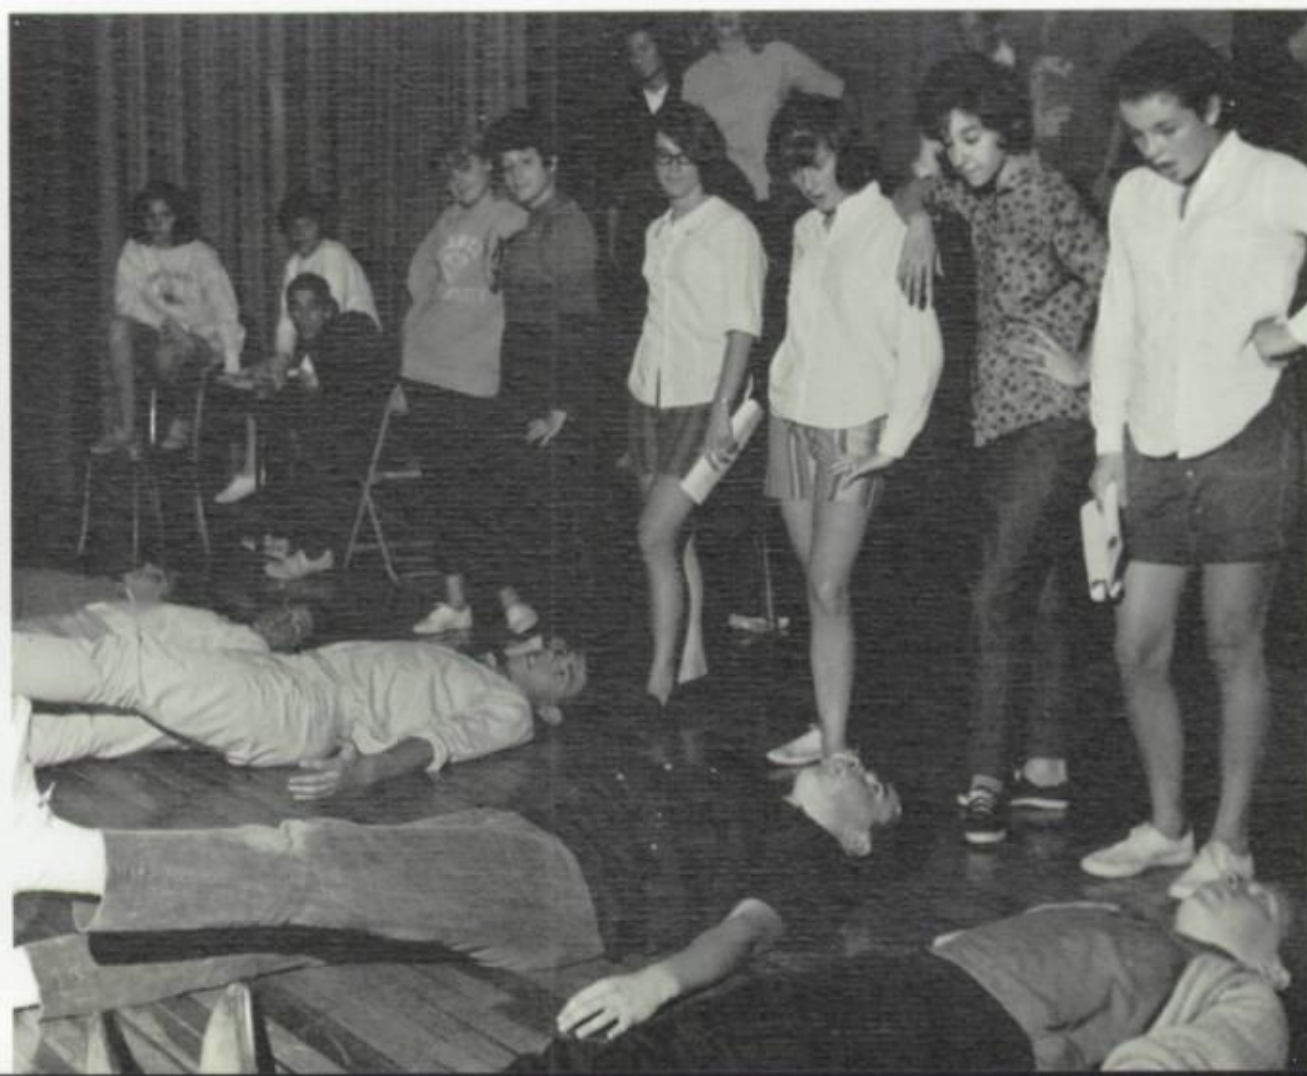

There is one reservation, however, and that is the tendency for student to become "Jacks of all trades; masters of none." This happens when a student commits himself to more clubs and activities than he can ably or sanely handle. Membership in extra-curricular organizations is not always beneficial. If students are unable to strike a balance between their scholastic work and after-school activities.

However, with a moderate number of memberships and sufficient allotment of time, participation can be a rewarding experience, in that once a student assumes a responsibility, he carries it out as well as his interest, which prompted him to join a particular activity in the first place.

On the following pages summaries of organizational aims and accomplishments are presented to show a phase of school life and what part it plays in "Time and Motion."

ORGANIZATIONS

GOVERNMENT . . . OF THE STUDENTS, BY THE STUDENTS . . . FOR THE STUDENTS

Under the direction of Mr. Parker, this year's Student Council sponsored the "Harvest Moon" (dance), Capers of '63 (variety show), buses to away-athletic events, Sports Night and the annual Moving-Up Day dance. At the beginning of the school year the Council distributed Student Activity cards to students, who by purchasing these cards, were entitled to attend the above-mentioned activities without charge in addition to all athletic events as well as receive a monthly issue of the Viking View. By its twofold purpose the Student Council instills in its participants an understanding of the concepts of a representative government and works to offer its services to the student body.

"We have witnessed significant changes."

GEORGE REID, PRESIDENT REFLECTS UPON CHANGE IN PARTING MESSAGE

"This year we have witnessed significant changes in the functions and organization of the Student Council. Under the leadership of the officers we have seen the Council change from a group concerned primarily with organizing social activities to a representative body whose function is to administer and regulate the functions of all student groups within the school. This has been accomplished through the adoption of sweeping changes in the Constitution of the student government, which have greatly increased the scope and purpose of the Council's activities.

"Following this general philosophy of a Student Council which serves as a governing and administrative body, the Council has expanded and enlarged its activities in the field of engendering support for our athletic teams, the area of activity commonly referred to by that complexing term, spirit. This year we used various means to instill this spirit in the school. By far the most meaningful was the creation of a committee to provide buses to away games which students could use at a minimal cost. The results in terms of increased attendance at the games and greater support for our teams were very encouraging!

"The Council is now a member-organization of the Nassau Student League, composed of Student Councils in Nassau County. The League offers student-government representatives a chance to express their opinions on various issues. One of the activities of the League was the circulation of a petition in support of the Federal Civil Rights Bill.

"During our incumbency we have formulated a new policy of Student Government at North Shore. However, this is just the beginning. We have conceived the general scheme of things and laid the framework. It will rest with the Council of ensuing years to take up where we have left off and using our foundation to build the type of student government at North Shore which will best serve the needs and solve the problems of the students."

The Mathletes, a "team" of math scholars, meet under the direction and sponsorship of "Coach," Mr. Charles Fenn. The team consists of five members selected from the school's Math Club. Each month these five students traveled to different schools to compete in a county contest which determined the team's standing among the other schools. Although they did not fair as well as they would have liked, the Mathletes' performance was higher than it has been in previous years.

CHEMISTRY CLUB HOSTS SPEAKERS

Besides offering students a chance to do extra work in the laboratory, the Chemistry Club, sponsored by Mr. Herman Weisman, invited guest speakers to talk on related fields in chemistry. Among them were Mr. Seymour Levine, Board of Education member, who spoke on the importance of communication in chemistry; Mr. O'Neal, whose subject was chemistry in industry, and Mr. DiVita, who spoke on how chemistry is related to the cosmetic industry.

CLUB SEEKS RESPECT FOR DIGNITY OF OTHERS

A belief that inter-action between groups will yield tolerance, and that an inquiring mind will fashion it into a man is advanced by the Human Relations Club. In order to achieve this, one must explore his own beliefs to find out just where he stands. After one has respect for himself, he can examine others.

The Club seeks to help students evaluate their own beliefs and also the ideas of others. They accomplish this through lectures, guest speakers of various faiths and political beliefs, debates, socio-dramas, and general discussion of current topics.

The club well knows that it takes more than a United Nations Week or a Brotherhood Week to establish international understanding. To have real brotherhood takes alert people who are intelligent enough to know and respect their fellow humans. Thus the club seeks a respect for the dignity of others—with an understanding that this will grow through their daily experiences.

STUDENTS PLAN ASSEMBLIES

The Assembly Committee, under the direction of Mr. George Pappas, presented this year a Hootenanny, "Hamlet," the annual holiday and spring concert, and (instead of the usual A.F.S. Assembly to begin the year) a combined American Field Service-International Fellowship program introducing not only foreign students who attended North Shore this year but also North Shore students who went abroad last summer.

STUDENTS BELIEVE THEATRE IS CONCRETE FORUM FOR IDEAS

Believing that the theatre is a valuable contribution to society, and that the theatre is a concrete forum for ideas, the National Thespians are a part of a nationwide organization of high school students. Highlights of this year's National Thespian program were Redhead (a joint production with the Viking Masquers), Richard II (presented at the Hofstra Shakespeare Festival) and meetings dealing with "actors talk about acting," a guest performance by Mrs. Jessie DeMilt, Shakespeare readings by Dr. Norman Ross, and scenes from such plays as All My Sons by Arthur Miller; directed by members of the club.

LE CERCLE FRANÇAIS INCLUDES ADVANCED STUDENTS

Le Cercle Français, under the sponsorship of Miss Sedlak, is organized to increase the interest of the more advanced French students in French culture. By conducting their meetings in French, the club not only increases a knowledge of French, but also improves the spoken French of its members.

LE CERCLE LAFAYETTE

Le Cercle Lafayette, led by Miss Scott, serves the same purpose as Le Cercle Français but on a more elementary level since its membership is composed of first and second year students. In February, the two clubs together held a French Dinner, "Mardi Gras Fête" which was well attended.

Patrice Simmonet, foreign exchange student from France, came to North Shore at mid-year.

Amical souvenir et bonne chance avec Scott.
STUDENTS MEET TO TALK ESPAÑOL

The Spanish Club under the direction of Mrs. Comfort, develops for the members a further appreciation of the language and its cultures. Such events as trips to Mexican restaurants, museums, and banquets were planned by the club this year.

LATIN CLUB STUDENTS STUDY ROMAN CULTURE

Organized on the assumption that learning a language also entails a study of the accompanying culture, the Latin Club was organized by sponsor, Mr. Donald Matthews. The monthly meetings featuring filmstrips and films increased the members' knowledge of Roman culture. Mr. Matthews also directs the organization's Christmas celebration, a Saturnalia party, and the traditional Latin Club dinner which is held in May.

"KAPPENFEST," WORLD'S FAIR, FILMS HIGHLIGHT GERMANY

Such memorable occasions as the "Kappenfest," a trip to the World's Fair and foreign films were highlights of the German Club's activities this year. The Club, under the direction of Mrs. Resi Lord, celebrates the "Kappenfest" by singing German folksongs, providing musical entertainment played by a band of German Club members and fashioning costume millinery. The Club's venture to the World's Fair included tours through the Austrian and Swiss Exhibitions.

HONOR SOCIETY BLENDS TRADITION WITH INNOVATION

The Promethean Chapter of the National Honor Society, under the expert guidance of Mr. Donald Matthews, has completed a year marked by tradition and innovation. The Society, as in previous years, attended a play as its cultural project. This year it was "Hamlet." Another traditional event was the induction banquet, a ceremony held in order to initiate new members into the Society. As for the innovation, the Society opened the snack bar after school to serve the students.

Members are selected for the Honor Society by a faculty committee which examines each student's record in relation to academic performance, student service and character and level of achievement. Students become eligible for consideration after their sophomore year; once selected, members are expected to maintain the high level of achievement.

VIKING VIEW COMBINES INTELLECT WITH HUMOR

Time and motion are made immediate captives in the pages of the Viking View. Periodically they are observed and recorded, written, and re-written to fit columns of type, photographed, layed out onto paper, set, corrected, and printed again.

Perhaps most of the people who work on the newspaper are not aware that they have taken part in this intricate process. Some of them have labored over their "stories" in a fragmentary way, as they might work on their daily homework. A few have worked late into the night, struggling to meet the deadline, as they would struggle during a difficult examination.

David Ain works (?) for a change.

YEARBOOK EDITORS CAPTURE AND RECORD "TIME AND MOTION"

Since the beginning of the school year, the editorial staff of the Taliesin, under the direction of Editor-in-Chief Patricia Cavuoti and Miss Joan Trusty, faculty advisor, has been working diligently to present North Shore with the biggest and best yearbook possible.

The staff's main purpose is to give you a sampling of the "real" North Shore through a new and different theme "Time and Motion." We have tried through the format of pictures to reveal as nearly as possible the lively, busy life the students lead, school-work, sports and others.

A precedent set by the '64 Taliesin was a dance, "A Little Bit Out," on November 1 which admitted free all those who had bought a yearbook.

ART GROUPS PROMOTE STUDENT EXPRESSION AND SERVICES

The avid interest of North Shore students in the Fine Arts is served through two clubs. Both the Art Service Club and the Art Club enable willing students to pursue further their interests in the field.

The Art Service Club, as its title indicates, assists various departments within the school on various occasions, which frequently require posters, decorations as well as stage set designing.

Membership into either group is free. The only expenses are those billed to the organizations using Art Department materials. Sponsor of both groups, open to all high school students not just those taking art classes, is Mr. Dale Chilcoat.

SCHUSSBOOMERS TAKE FIVE TRIPS TO SKI—OR TO LEARN TO SKI . . .

Increased interest in skiing has made the Ski Club the largest and one of the most active clubs at North Shore. Under the leadership of Mr. Passer, its members are able to master new skills and improve those already learned. The Schussboomers were able to accomplish this through week-end trips to Shaker Village, Mt. Lebanon, New York, and two visits to Fitzwilliam, New Hampshire.

FUTURE NURSES CLUB INVESTIGATES PROFESSION

The Future Nurses Club, sponsored by school nurse, Miss Handley, is organized to investigate the requirements and opportunities in nursing and in other related fields. The meetings are often highlighted by films, field trips, and guest speakers. This year, as an additional project, the club provided a Christmas dinner for a needy family in the community. Through this club, the girls hope to achieve a fuller understanding of what nursing entails.

CLUB ATTRACTS FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

Sponsored by Mrs. Miller, the Future Homemakers of America Club is open to all students interested in becoming better homemakers in the home and community. Meetings are held twice a month on the second and fourth Wednesdays. This year's special projects included making and selling fruitcakes for the Christmas season and serving refreshments to the Mathletes.

OFFICE PRACTICE CLUB PERFORMS FOR SCHOOL

"Service with a smile and without cost" is the manner in which the Office Practice Club performs for the school at large.

Under the supervision of Mr. Krawitz, the organization supplies the special mimeographed and dittoed material that the various departments, faculty, and student organizations require.

All the members of the group are familiar with the various machines such as the ditto machine, the mimeograph machine, the electric typewriters, the dictaphone, the stenocord, all of which can be found in the Office Practice Room. They enjoy putting to use the knowledge that they have gained in class.

FUTURE TEACHERS CLUB OBSERVES AND TUTORS

The members of the Future Teachers Club meet once a month with Mr. Stanley Wolf, the club's sponsor. The students observe classes at the North Shore Junior High School, and they tutor students needing special assistance. Through the use of films, field trips, and guest speakers, the club explores the preparations for, and opportunities in teaching.

VARSITY BAND IS A MARCHING AS WELL AS CONCERT BAND

This year the North Shore Concert Band began its first season as the North Shore Marching Band. Under the direction of Mr. Bennett Lentczner the band performed four shows at the home football games. Marching bands are becoming very popular on Long Island and in October the band and 14 others put on a joint show at Hofstra University.

After a strenuous fall, the band settled down to concert music. As usual, in the spring the band entered the State Music Festival competition. On April 10, the Band, along with the choruses and orchestra, performed in the annual Spring Concert.

To the strains of the "Alma Mater," the marching band forms a block "N."

ORCHESTRA UPHOLDS RECORD OF MUSICAL EXCELLENCE . . .

North Shore High School Orchestra upheld its long-standing record of musical excellence. Under the direction of Mr. Dwight Dyer, they performed at the annual Winter and Spring Concerts and gave a concert at the East Meadow High School in early February. In May the group participated in All-State competition with the hope of defending the previous year's 6A rating.

Under the direction of Mr. John Sterling, the group fills their performances with both lively and more serious music. They take part in both the Holiday and Spring Concerts.

SKILLFUL VARSITY CHORUS PRODUCES STERLING TONES

Under the able direction of Mr. John Sterling, the Varsity Chorus provides North Shore with a singing group in which the school can take pride. This year, the chorus had the honor of performing on "Youth and Music," a program on the radio station, WHLI. This was a distinction, as only groups of superior quality are asked to participate.

As in past years, the Varsity chorus took part in both the Christmas and Spring Concerts. They competed in NYSSMA in hope of keeping the 6A rating they have held for the last several years. On April 4 the United States Coast Guard Academy visited North Shore to give a concert sponsored by the P.T.A. The chorus and DoMiSols also played a large part in this concert.

They have also sung with the Cornell University and University of Pennsylvania Glee Clubs. The library assistants aid our library staff in making the library run more efficiently. They catalogue books, magazines and film strips, straighten up the shelves and check books in and out. Each member gives several periods a week to this work and through their work learn about the operation of a library under the guidance of Miss Phillips.

Under the direction of Mr. Chilcoat the cheerleaders used new cheers to help vary their routine.

VARSITY CLUB

The Varsity Club, sponsored by Mr. Schiffer, is set up to promote athletics at North Shore. The boys assist at all athletic contests at our school. They also sell refreshments at home sports events in order to raise money for their jackets and sweaters.

WIN OR LOSE—ATHLETES PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE

No school activity is more closely related to time and motion than sports. Athletics at North Shore has become an integral part of the high school experience, coinciding with and enriching the academic program. The entire school, either as spectators or participants, benefits from this particular facet of school life.

The spectator not only seeks entertainment but also reflects support for his team through a cooperative and competitive spirit, also evident among participants.

Athletics provides physical exercise and ultimately, muscular coordination and skill.

Each sport offers a different type of development for its participants. For instance, bodily skills required for one sport are not necessarily required for another. This is analogous with the wins and losses, celebrated or suffered by various teams this year. Because one team had a good season does not mean that all teams had a good season. And they did not.

North Shore's soccer team has consistently maintained a high standing in the league. Their notable performance has become tradition in the school.

The basketball team, on the other hand, has had to begin a reputation. Thus, a different type of attitude is manifested among its participants.

Probably more difficult to overcome and, consequently, that much greater a challenge next year, the consecutive losses suffered by the football team who worked "under fire" this year.

Win or lose, however, we have tried, on the following pages to imbue the spirit of cooperation, competition and school support evident in every sport played throughout the school year.

SPORTS

"I feel like I'm going to cry."

FOOTBALL TEAM GAINS EXPERIENCE "UNDER FIRE"

This year was unfortunate for the football squad in that it was plagued by an uncanny number of injuries—a number larger than the total accumulated in all previous seasons in the history of the High School. Coach Reardon estimated that by mid-season there were 22 injuries.

However, he did feel that the individual effort put forth equaled or surpassed that of earlier years.

North Shore's Varsity Football team placed last in Division III with one non-league opening-game win of 8-0 over Locust Valley. The Varsity squad was hampered by a shortage of players; as a result, the coaching staff depended on the Junior Varsity considerably.

Coach Reardon said, "We didn't get out of our experienced players what we feel we should have because of the existing handicaps." He felt Pete Tozer was one of the outstanding players this year and is looking forward to having him and other experienced players back—players who gained their experience "under fire" this year.

At the end of the season Pete was named the most valuable player and Bob Vreeland, the most improved player on the team, at the annual Fall Sports Banquet sponsored by the Booster Club.

YOU CAN SEE IT IN THEIR FACES

The expressions of these players convey distraught feelings, not only over this particular Saturday game, but many of the games last season.

Faced with overwhelming odds, the team carried the heavy burden of not enough size or players—and, consequently, one defeat after another.

Despite the fact the team was "under fire" all too frequently, the spirit of competition was not extinguished. They knew how difficult it would be to win and sooner learned how much more difficult it was to lose.

Coaches Reardon, Nicolino, Meyer and Farnan, however, never lost sight of the fact that disappointments can and will build these men to "fight fire with fire" next year.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM UPSETS PAST RECORDS

The cross country team, this year, upset their long-standing record of winning seasons. In the past four years they have won two championships and placed second twice. This year the record has two wins and four losses. Coach Thompson said, however, some of the individuals did far better in past-league competition. Medal winners were seniors, Cook, Illston, and juniors, Kelley, Wolczak. In the North Nassau Holiday Meet, Cook and Illston were again medal winners.

Jeff Illston concentrates on breaking that record.

VARSITY SOCCER IS STRONG DEFENSIVELY—NOT OFFENSIVELY

"The 1963 edition of the North Shore varsity soccer team proved to be a strong defensive team and a not too strong offensive team," said Coach Schiffer. The boys were able to keep their opponents from scoring but were unable to score for North Shore. The team was a comparatively young team, which he attributed partially to the weak offense. The team was composed of six juniors and five seniors. The overall record for the season was seven wins, three ties and two losses. The last defeat came at the end of the season, which put North Shore in second place. The team, he said, is looking forward to a better season next year with some of the junior varsity and freshman boys moving up to the Varsity and the return of eleven juniors from this year's team. Ronnie Biggers and Greg Sterling were selected to the All-Division, All-North Shore and All-Nassau Scholastic Teams.

TENNIS TEAM FINISHES THIRD

The varsity tennis team, captained by Stanley Person, completed a six-to-four record to finish third in Division 11.

This is a higher division than last year, but the record shows the boys played creditable tennis. The team defeated Westbury, Glen Cove and Bethpage and lost to Manhasset and Roslyn.

Graduating seniors on the team this year were Todd Parker, Bernie Tawfik, Jim Barash, Bob Buckhout (doubles) and Stanley Person (singles). Coach Barna said these seniors will be missed but is confident of his experienced underclassmen, who will be with the team again next year.

BERGOVOY BUILDS BASKETBALL TEAM FOR BIG SEASON

Under the new coaching of Coach Philip Bergovoy, the North Shore Varsity basketball team had one of the most successful seasons in its history. The Vikings had a league record of ten wins and eight losses.

They opened the season with a 57-32 win over Wheatley, followed by a win of 57-53 against Locust Valley. The team placed third in the Holiday Tournament behind Glen Cove and Oyster Bay, giving two defeats to the Falcons of Locust Valley and Island Trees.

The bulk of the points were scored by Paul Reynolds and Larry Mullan. Greg Sterling, team captain; Joe McManus, co-captain excelled also.

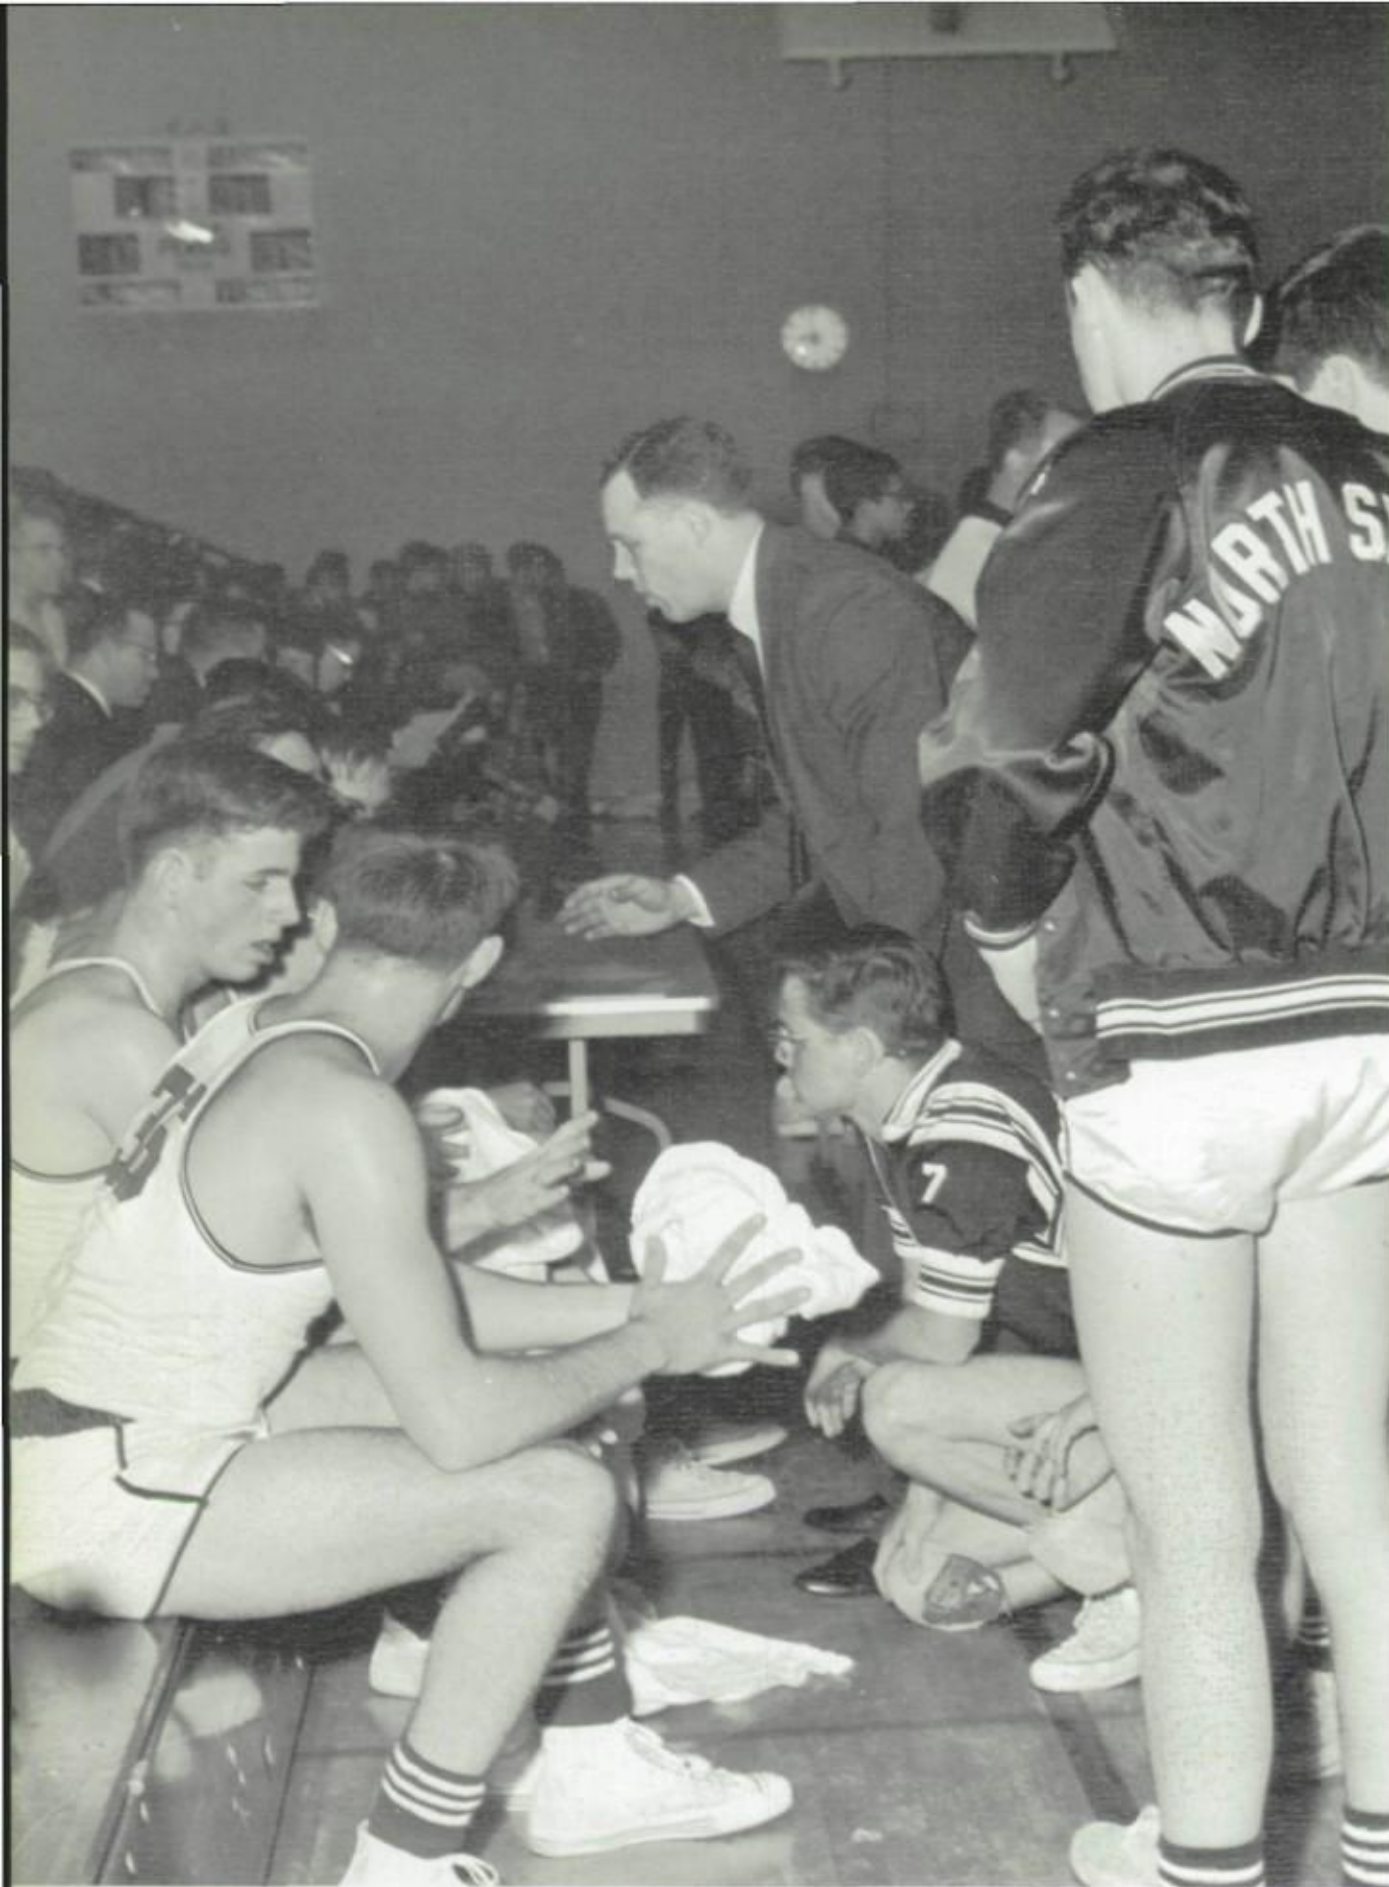

The Vikings' march was halted temporarily when they were defeated by Roslyn and Westbury, two formidable league opponents. However, the Vikings bounced back in the standings with a 44-43 winning upset against Glen Cove. Continuing into mid-season, the varsity basketball team acquired its sixth league win, defeating Bethpage 68-51.

The Vikings lost 38-37 in a crucial game against Glen Cove, and they beat Bethpage 72-57. Losing 47-45 in overtime play against Manhasset.

Coach Bergovoy must be commended for his work with the team this year. With dexterity and versatility, he introduced offensive and defensive plays, many of which were new to basketball spectators, that produced one of North Shore's finest basketball teams.

No stopping Paul Reynolds, one of North Shore's top-scoring men, not even one of the team's most formidable opponents—Westbury.

INDOOR TRACK TEAM HAS BIGGEST YEAR EVER

"How much have you run this week, Freddy?" "Run, run, run, run . . ."—maxims and words to the wise uttered to members of Indoor Track by its capable guiding influence, Coach Dr. Norman Ross. This year produced the largest Indoor team ever, with a sufficient number of Freshmen and Sophomores for future years.

In December, the majority of the team participated in the West Point Invitational Track Meet at West Point Military Academy, sponsored by the Westchester coaches. In January, the team went to the Cardinal Hayes, St. Francis Prep, and N.Y.U. Invitational Indoor Meets in New York City. Also in January, North Shore sent a mile relay team to compete in the Millrose Invitational at Oceanside, L.I. Commack, L.I. was the setting for two meets: the Suffolk Coaches Meet in February; and the Knights of Columbus Meet, in March. On February 29, the Vikings traveled to Queens College to compete in the Section Eight Meet. Two meets were held at North Shore.

Dr. Ross wished for every member to participate in the maximum number of meets possible, and all should be grateful for the experience gained.

WRESTLING TEAM SHOWS GOOD FORM

The wrestling team, under the new supervision of Coach Mr. Barry Wadsworth, was plagued by a chronic case of bad luck; consequently, they grappled to a three and five won-lost record in league competition. The team lost four matches by a margin of three points or less. At the Section Eight Tournament, Ron Boggers defeated his first opponent and lost to the second. Bill Reinhardt also wrestled in the Tourney, losing his first match. Mel Yee and Bob Pointe went as alternates. Outstanding during the season were Bill Reinhardt, finishing with an 18-0 record, and Ron Biggers, who amassed a 9-0 record; Ron was unable to wrestle early in the season because of a shoulder ailment. A winning record was also turned in by Jay La Baugh.

TRACK TEAM HAS WINNING SEASON

A large turnout for Varsity Track this year was a precursor of a winning season. The coaches, Mr. Donald Thompson and Dr. Norman Ross, were pleased with the large number of juniors who participated. With a sufficient number of returning seniors, the squad performed well against Roslyn and the other track powers in Division III. The team succeeded in the distance running and was able to re-strengthen in the weight events. In May a relay team was sent to the Port Washington Invitational, and three relay teams were sent to the North Shore Relays.

MANY TURN OUT FOR GOLF TEAM

Once again the North Shore Golf Team had a very large turnout of about forty boys. There were twenty matches scheduled this year, and once again we were league contenders in Division III.

In the golf program, under the leadership of Mr. Barna, a good number of boys were able to play golf, as there were both A and B teams.

BASEBALL TEAM STARTS WITH THE CRACK OF THE BAT

As the March lion came in, the crack of the bat could be heard on the athletic fields of North Shore—the sign of a starting season. The team met a rough schedule, and among those who led the Vikings on the drive were Larry Chase and Pete Tozer, the formidable aces who showed their prowess the season long. Other senior returnees who played well were Buzzy Weber, Bill Force, and Tom Burger. The skill displayed by the team was the direct result of the expert coaching of Mr. Raymond Conlin.

Three and two . . . and now, the big one!

The heat is on in this split second of play.

ADVERTISEMENTS

ADS SUPPORT TIME AND MOTION IN SPACE

There is an inevitable relationship between North Shore High School and the businesses in the area.

Many of them represented on the following pages have been instrumental in the structure and function of the school. With the expansion of the school population, the business community has also expanded. We have aided them, and in turn, they have reciprocated.

In addition to the support given to the Taliesin by the community's merchants, it has received ads from classes and organizations in the school.

Both groups, whether they be merchants indirectly related to the school or students directly involved in school activities, have contributed sufficiently to the 1964-65 Taliesin in the space reserved for them on the following pages.
